

Week 1:
 Get acquainted-
 Where did they live? Who had the most children?
 What unusual facts can you find?
 Are there any memories in FamilySearch.org?
 Can you add any?

Week 2:
 Compare the lives of your ancestors from your father's side and your mother's side. How has this influenced your family? Can you add more about them?

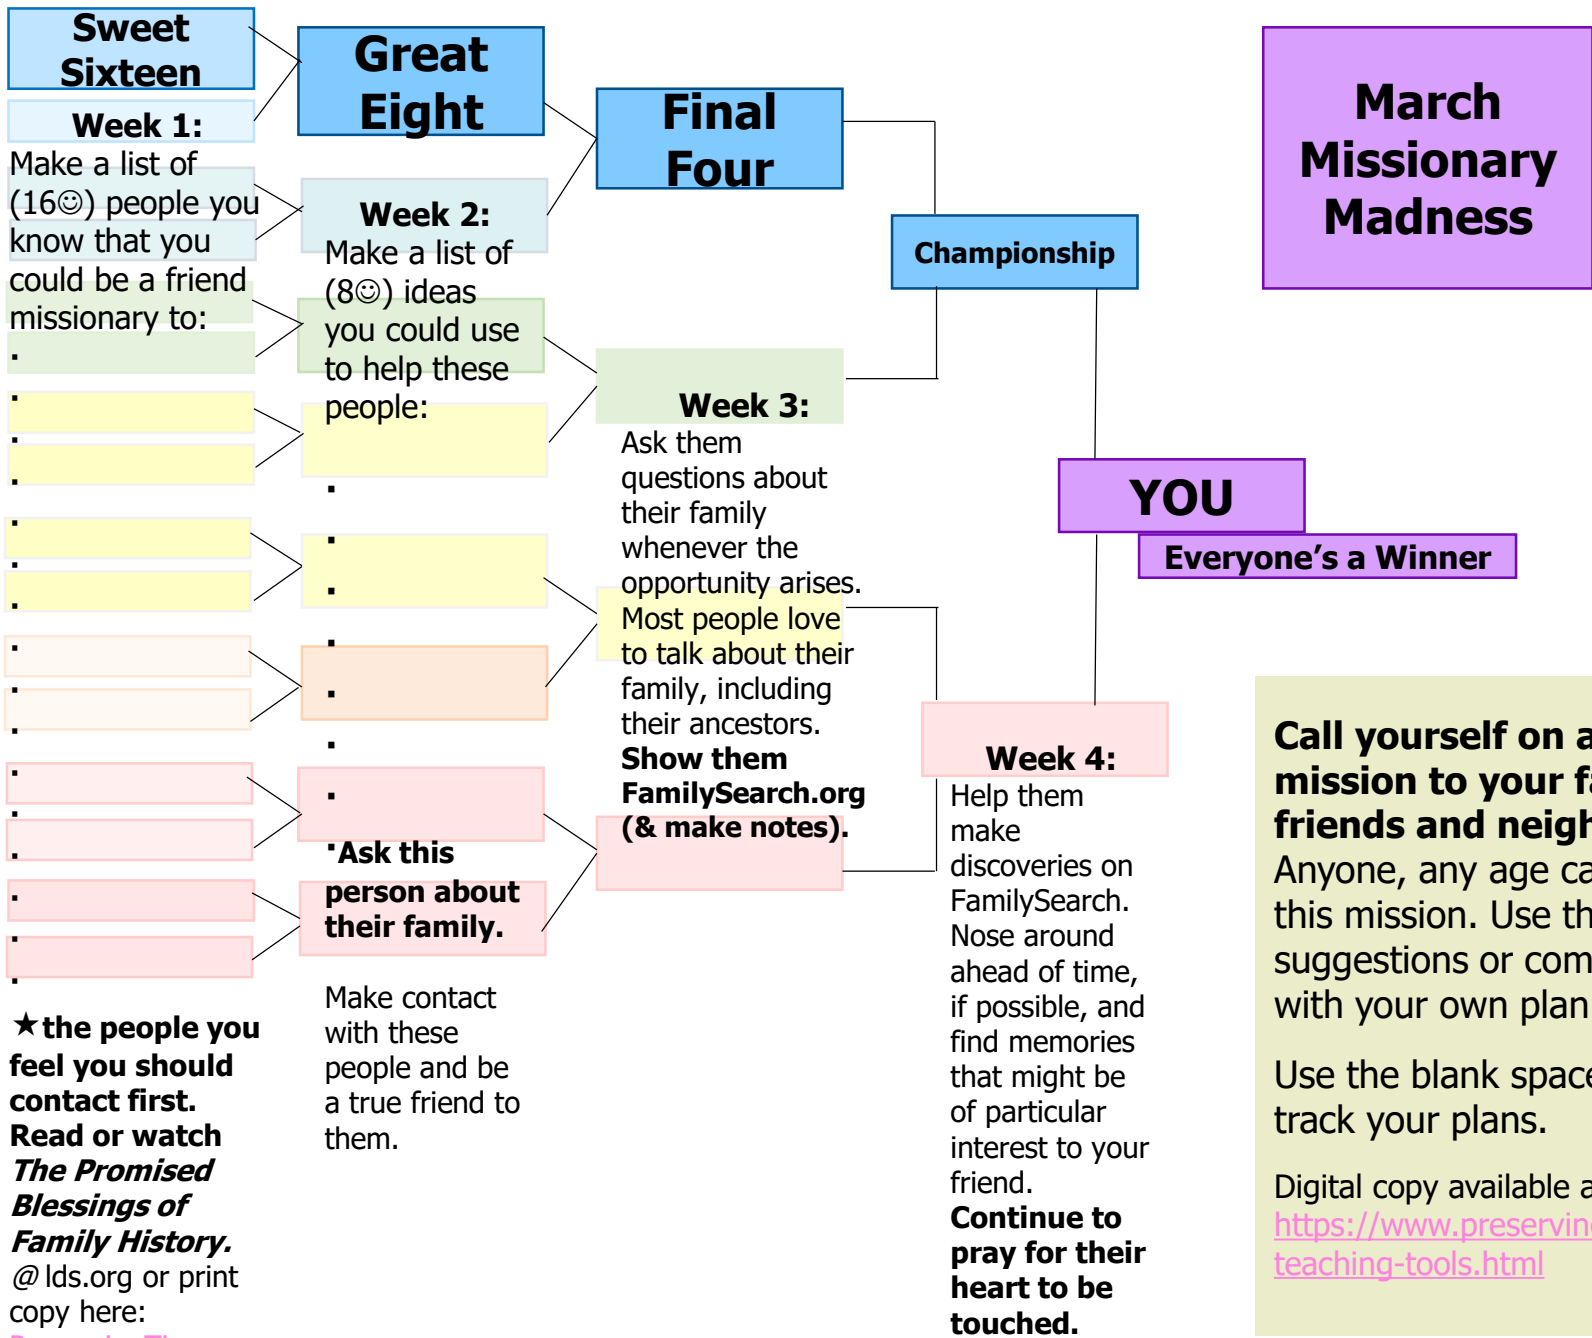

Week 3:
 What are your memories of your grandparents? Are their stories in FamilySearch? Add the stories you remember using audio, photos or text.

Week 4:
 No one should have to research you! Write a short story or draw a picture about one of your most memorable experiences. You can add your memories to FamilySearch also.

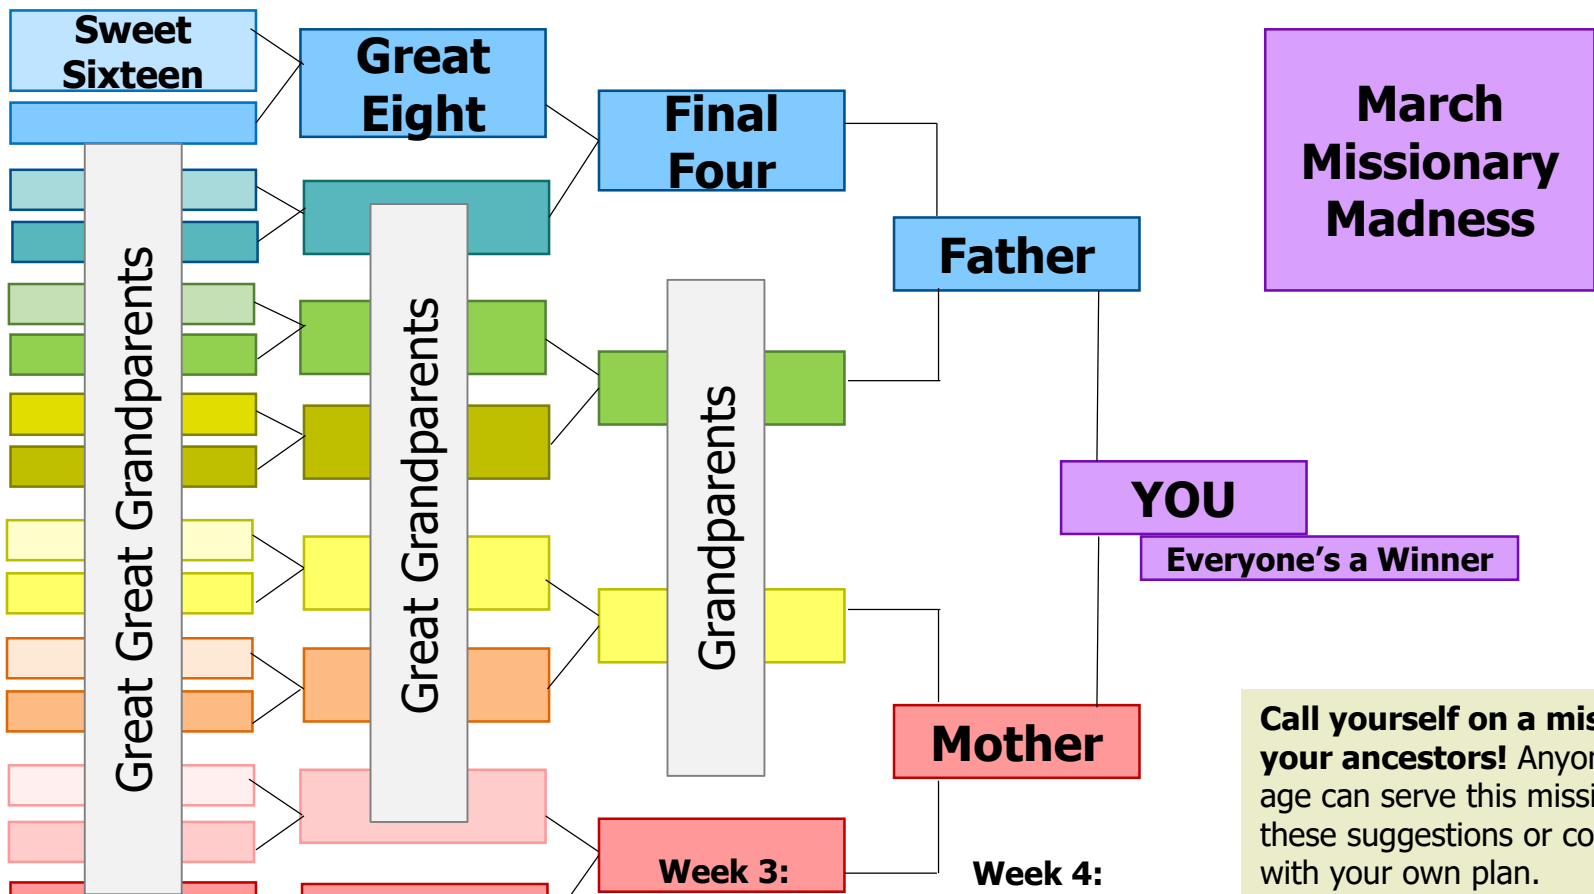

Call yourself on a mission for your ancestors! Anyone, any age can serve this mission. Use these suggestions or come up with your own plan.

Did you find any Record Hints as you explored? Go back and attach them. Are there people missing that need to be added? Did you find anyone who needs temple ordinances? They are waiting for your help.

Digital copy available at:
<https://www.preservingtime.org/teaching-tools.html>

The two pages that follow print better if using greyscale....

Week 1:
 Get acquainted-
 Where did they live? Who had the most children?
 What unusual facts can you find?
 Are there any memories in FamilySearch.org?
 Can you add any?

Week 2:
 Compare the lives of your ancestors from your father's side and your mother's side. How has this influenced your family? Can you add more about them?

Week 3:
 What are your memories of your grandparents? Are their stories in FamilySearch? Add the stories you remember using audio, photos or text.

Week 4:
 No one should have to research you! Write a short story or draw a picture about one of your most memorable experiences. You can add your memories to FamilySearch also.

Call yourself on a mission for your ancestors! Anyone, any age can serve this mission. Use these suggestions or come up with your own plan.

Did you find any Record Hints as you explored? Go back and attach them. Are there people missing that need to be added? Did you find anyone who needs temple ordinances? They are waiting for your help.

Digital copy available at:
<https://www.preservingtime.org/teaching-tools.html>

Sweet Sixteen

Week 1:
Make a list of (16☺) people you know that you could be a friend missionary to:

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

Great Eight

Week 2:
Make a list of (8☺) ideas you could use to help these people:

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

.

Final Four

Championship

YOU

Everyone's a Winner

March Missionary Madness

Make contact with these people and be a true friend to them.

Week 3:
Ask them questions about their family whenever the opportunity arises. Most people love to talk about their family, including their ancestors. Show them FamilySearch.org (& make notes).

Week 4:

Help them make discoveries on FamilySearch. Nose around ahead of time, if possible, and find memories that might be of particular interest to your friend.

Continue to pray for their heart to be touched.

Call yourself on a mission to your family, friends and neighbors. Anyone, any age can serve this mission. Use these suggestions or come up with your own plan. Use the blank spaces to track your plans. Digital copy available at: <https://www.preservingtime.org/teaching-tools.html>

★ the people you feel you should contact first. Read or watch The Promised Blessings of Family History. @lds.org or print copy here: PreservingTime.org